SEAL OF THE COLUMBIAN COLLEGE

In 1819, the Reverend Luther Rice, Obadiah B. Brown, Spencer H. Cone, and Enoch Reynolds (all Baptist ministers) set in motion the reality of a college in the District. These men raised the needed funds to purchase land in the nation's capital, petitioned the Congress for a charter, and began organizing a college.

On February 9, 1821, President James Monroe signed the Act of Congress which created the College. By design of the Congress, a special provision was included which required that “persons of every religious denomination shall be capable of being elected Trustees; nor shall any person, either as President, Professor, Tutor or pupil, be refused admittance, or denied any of the privileges, immunities, or advantages thereof, for or on account of his sentiments in matters of religion.”

The original seal was designed by James Peale in 1821, at the time of the founding of the Columbian College. This is the seal that the graduates are wearing today as medals. The seal features a Biblical lion lying down with a lamb and Greek text in an open book. The Greek translates to “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God.”

In 1873, the name Columbian College was changed to Columbian University and the seal was changed slightly to reflect this. The Latin text around the outside was changed from “Columbiani Collegii” to “Universitatis Columbianae Sigillum.” In addition, some text was added to fill up the rest of the open book, since the Greek phrase only took up part of one page. In 1905, after the name changed to the George Washington University, the old seal was replaced by a completely new one.

The original Columbian College seal is currently on display in the Memorabilia Room of Gelman Library.

Dean

Congratulations, Graduates!

This day marks the beginning of a new and exciting journey. As a graduate of the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, you now carry with you the skills that our university's namesake considered essential for responsible citizenship, skills that will help you be informed and effective global citizens. I encourage you to use your studies as a foundation for contributing to your communities and making a difference in whatever field you pursue.

As students of the arts and sciences, you were driven by your desire to explore new ideas, to think broadly, be creative, ask questions and tackle new challenges. You took chances, combined your academic rigor and achievement with a spirit of exploration and adventure, and enhanced your intellectual and personal growth through GW's unique connections across the nation's capital and around the world.

During your time here, you collaborated with world-renowned scholars; benefited from research grants that positioned you to explore exciting innovations; and had access to the world's top research and cultural institutions—from the Library of Congress to the National Institutes of Health to the Smithsonian. You've also had a front-row seat to history and have experienced some truly special “only at GW” moments.

The relationships you established will provide a strong network to keep you connected with this institution and the world beyond our campus. Wherever you go, be proud to call yourself a George Washington University graduate. It is a privileged group, one that will reward you both personally and professionally.

Please know that the GW community will always be open to you, wherever and however you choose to keep in touch. I encourage you stay connected through our social media platforms and read about our continued progress—and your continued impact—in our alumni publications. When the opportunity arises, I also hope you come back to Foggy Bottom to attend an event, participate in a campus forum or visit a faculty member.

Congratulations and all my best wishes as you embark on a future of promise and unlimited possibility!

Sincerely,

CELEBRATION SPEAKERS

FACULTY SPEAKER

Catherine K. Anderson

Assistant Professor of Interior Architecture; Corcoran School of the Arts and Design

Prior to her teaching position at GW, Catherine Anderson worked in a variety of architecture and interior design firms for over 12 years. Her primary practice experience was focused on commercial projects for a wide range of clients such as law firms, non-profits, associations and embassies. She earned a Bachelor of Science in Architecture and a Master of Architecture from The Catholic University of America's School of Architecture + Planning that included a summer semester abroad in Rome and Slovenia. She was awarded the American Institute of Architects (AIA) Henry Adams Medal, the highest honor for a graduating student in an accredited program. Her teaching focus has been on the design process and design thinking; her research includes participation in the US Department of Energy's 2013 Solar Decathlon with Team Capitol DC's submission, Harvest Home, which won a 2014 AIA DC Design Award. She is the co-author of the book, 25 Concepts in Modern Architecture: A Guide for Visual Thinkers (Bloomsbury, 2021) and is currently co-writing another book, Interior Design is Not Decoration and Other Ideas, which is due to be published by Laurence King in 2024.

DISTINGUISHED SCHOLAR SPEAKER

The Distinguished Scholar Award is bestowed upon a master's student in the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences (CCAS) who has excelled academically and shown commitment to scholarship through participation in research or other academic leadership activities. With this prize, CCAS recognizes exceptional achievement and excellence in graduate student research, significant extracurricular or off-campus activity related to the student's academic field of study, and/or important contributions to the growth and improvement of the student's department, school, or the university. The 2022-2023 Award for Distinguished Master's Degree Scholar is presented to Amrita Grewal.

Amrita K. Grewal

Master of Arts in Speech-Language Pathology, Spring 2023

Amrita Grewal is graduating with a Master of Arts degree in the field of Speech-Language Pathology. After working as a behavioral therapist in Michigan, she decided to undertake this program of study and an eventual career as a speech-language pathologist in order to help autistic children better communicate with their parents. Grewal's master's thesis examined whether disgust contributes to picky eating in autistic adults. Her hope is that this research will provide healthcare professionals with another route for intervening and improving health outcomes for autistic adults, who are often underrepresented in published autism research.

While working on her thesis, Grewal impressed faculty members in the Department of Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences not only with her willingness to "take on new tasks in areas in which she has limited experience/expertise" but also with "her level of detail, inquisitive nature, and ability to adjust her plan as needed." Serving as one of two student representatives on her department's Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Committee, she helped shape the department's inaugural year-end DEI celebration by co-organizing an art show featuring artists with communication disabilities and differences. She also volunteered with speech-language pathologists in the local area to develop a training program for mental health professionals who work with clients with aphasia, a disorder that impairs the ability to use and/or understand language due to stroke or other injury to the brain.

AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN THE MENTORING OF MASTER'S STUDENTS

The Award for Excellence in Graduate Faculty Mentoring is given to a faculty member nominated by graduate students in the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences. Mentoring and advising are crucial to the intellectual life and career trajectories of graduate students across the arts, sciences, and professions. A good mentor is a source of wisdom and expertise, an inspiring role model, a compassionate critic, a sounding board, an advocate, and a career counselor. The 2022-23 Award for Excellence in the Mentoring of Master's Students is presented to Fran Buntman, assistant professor of sociology.

Fran Buntman

Assistant Professor of Sociology

Dr. Fran Buntman joined the faculty of the George Washington University in 2002. She serves as the Department of Sociology's director of graduate studies and, until recently, was the director of the interdisciplinary undergraduate minor in Law and Society, which she helped create. Her primary teaching and research interests focus on power and resistance in prisons, punishment and law. These themes are core to her book, Robben Island and Prisoner Resistance to Apartheid (Cambridge, 2003) and two recent journal articles, one co-authored, "Prison and law, repression and resistance: Colonialism and beyond" (2019) and "The Mental health consequences of parental incarceration" (2023). Dr. Buntman's pedagogy integrates theory and practice with community engagement. She relishes teaching and supporting students through their learning journeys.

Dear Graduate:

On behalf of the Columbian College National Council for the Arts and Sciences, I offer my congratulations on your significant achievement and welcome you to the George Washington University alumni community. Do not underestimate your accomplishment.

As an alumna of this historic institution, I fully appreciate the excitement of this very special moment in your life and remember that feeling well. You are now a member of a select group of individuals, bonded by a college for which you will forever be proudly associated. I encourage you to remain involved and, more importantly, engaged with the university as you enter this next phase of your life. Your opportunities to make a difference are endless—from becoming an active member of the Alumni Association organizing regional and local alumni events, to mentoring a student, offering services as a career advisor or being a guest lecturer, and providing philanthropic support. Each of these types of engagement offers unique and wonderful opportunities to continue showing your pride in the university and passing on that GW spirit.

My work as a volunteer on the National Council—which is comprised of alumni, parents, and friends who advise the dean of the Columbian College—has been an incredibly rewarding experience for me. I hope you find similar avenues of engagement and find opportunities to advance GW's promise and potential.

Finally, it is not lost on anyone that your time here has required significant personal dedication and financial commitment. We are grateful for your investment and hopeful that your degree will lay the groundwork for future success in whatever career you choose.

Again, congratulations! It is both an honor and a pleasure to welcome you as a graduate of the Columbian College of Arts and Sciences, and I hope to see you at a GW event soon.

Raise High!
